Special to The Washington Herald. Boston, Mass., May 1.-It was another long, dreary day for the Washington St. Louis Unable to Hold the baseball players, a repetition of yesterday, a drizzle of rain from early morning until late in the afternoon. There was a cold, raw east wind blowing, and most of the boys stuck close to the hotel. The game scheduled for to-day was called off early in the forenoon. This gave Unglaub a chance to visit old friends in Boston, and Ganley went to his home in Lowell to see his people.

The rest of the gang exhausted themselves in shop talk yesterday, and Managed Cantillon undertook to entertain them to-day with thrilling tales of the night riders around Reelfoot Lake region in Tennessee, where he has a ranch and where last winter he entertained some Ban Johnson and Charley Comiskey.

Three Games Postponed. account of rain and the Red Sox management is trying to get permission from Ban Johnson to play a double-header on Monday or Tuesday. The result of its efforts may not be known until Monday The men need the work badly and will be glad to play a double-header if permission is granted.

While Cantillon was willing enough to talk about the rough riding of basebal players in Tennessee last winter, he was St. Louis.

In spite of the inclement weather an the poor condition of the track, the man agement of the first annual field and track games of the Georgetown Preparatory School pulled off a highly successful meet over on the hilltop yesterday afternoon. Few of the vast following of the popular sport braved the trip to witness the sport, but it suffices to say that those who failed to avail themselves of the opportunity missed one of the most interesting events of the kind held in Washington this season. Naturally no records were smashed, and few were threatened, but the events for the greater part were well contested.

Foley Won Over. Central High's rejuvenated track team. or rather a part of the same, proved that preparatory schools of this section of the ountry by carrying off the honors of the day in a way that made other contesting athletes sit up and take notice. Because of the unfavorable weather conditions and the heavy track, Coach Foley decided not o take a chance with his string of stars, and refused to allow the runners to com pete in the various events. After much persuasion on the part of several stanch admirers of the O street athletes who had journeyed over the hillton for the sole purpose of seeing their favorites in action, Foley decided to allow those ertered in the field events and the hurdlers to compete. The result was that Central cleaned up everything stuff of his. There is a great treat in boys winners over their old rivais, the sight for the Frenchmen.

DEVINE IS BATTED HARD

Balzer Goes In, but Fails to Check Heavy Hitting of Home Team-Hilltoppers Throw Seare Into Southerners' Camp in Ninth Inning.

Special to The Washington Herald. Charlottesville, Va., May 1.-Virginia played the last home game on her schedule to-day, defeating Georgetown, 7 to 6. The contest came near being a repetition of yesterday's game, when North Carolina won out in a ninth-inning rally, after Virginia apparently had a safe lead. The Georgetown players gave the large crowd a scare which they will long

With the score standing 7 to 2 in favor of Virginia, the Blue and Gray opened up on Walker in the ninth and by bunching three hits with as many errors in the local infield sent four runs across the plate, lacking one of tying the score. Devine started out to twirl for Georgetown, but did not last long. Two years ago he essayed to twirl on the local diamond, but was forced to retire early in the contest. The big southpaw was succeeded in the fourth by Balzer, who held the Virginians in check until the two last innings, when he was touched up for a total of four hits. Walker, who was in the box for Vir-ginia, was at his best up to the ninth, when he weakened. He started out by fanning the first three batters who faced him. He had a total of twelve strike-outs. Murphy, Schlafly, and Simon, each fanned

Two-bagger for Schlafly.

Georgetown scored first. Schlaffy opened the fourth with a beautiful two-bagger down the third base line, and was advanced to third on a neat sacrifice by Simon. Mayock drew a pass. Macdonald was out on a pop fly to Dabney. Sitterding came to the rescue with a single to left, scoring Schlafly. Callahan nailed a liner to Walker, who fumbled, Mayock reaching home. Sitterding who tried to score from second on the error, was nipped at the home plate. Virginia landed on Devine in her half of the fourth and took the lead. Hume singled to right, Pearson walked, and both counted on Walker's timely grounder to right field. Walker was sacrificed to second by Pickford and came home on
